AQUAPARK

A man and a child are sliding down a water slide on a yellow inflatable ring. The man is in the foreground, seen from the back, with his arms resting on the ring. The child is behind him, with their legs sticking out. They are creating a large splash of white water as they slide. The slide is yellow and curves downwards. In the background, there is a swimming pool with other people and a large blue inflatable ring. The scene is bright and sunny, suggesting a summer day at a water park.

Our Racer Slide has “Splash VR”, the first technology solution that deploys a virtual-reality experience for waterpark guests without impacting the structure of existing waterslides.

SLIDING DEEP INTO A LOST WORLD

When guests wore their VR headwear and begin their waterslide journey, they will Experience a journey though the Lost City of Atlantis. Based on a radio - wave system, the headsets know exactly where users are located on the slide and their views change based on a triangulation of electromagnetic-radiation wavelengths. With the introduction of the Atlantis immersive experience, however, guests on actual waterslides can now imagine being in completely different worlds. The Atlantis video is only the beginning of the adventures awaiting guests. Parks will have the opportunity to allow riders to choose different adventures - new concepts and films - every time they shoot down a tube.
